Sayyid Al-Hakeem: State Administration Coalition represents the Iraqi political system's important development, a national coalition involving everyone

During his visit to the holy city of Karbala, at the residence of Sheikh Salim Al-Khayoun, the head of Bani Assad tribe, Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of Al-Hikma National Movement, recalled his relationship with the esteemed elders, symbols, and members of this tribe. H.E. highlighted the challenges that Iraq has faced, whether in terms of security, politics, or society, commending the stance of Iraqi tribes and their response to the call of the highest religious authority.

H.E. emphasized that the State Administration Coalition represents a significant development in the Iraqi political system, being a national coalition that encompasses all segments of society. H.E. stressed that engaging with the development path indicates Iraq's stability and the desire of regional and global powers to engage with it, as this path aligns the interests of Iraqis with each other.

H.E. pointed out that regional security is now linked to Iraq's security, noting that the experience with ISIS demonstrated that destabilizing Iraq means destabilizing the entire region and the world. H.E. reiterated the importance of succeeding in the challenge of providing services, just as Iraq has succeeded in overcoming security, political, and social challenges.
