Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Shammar Al-Tawga Sheikh, Reflects on Historical Relations with the Esteemed Trib

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers' Alliance, met with the Sheikh of the Shammar Al-Tawga tribe, Seihoud Falih Al-Sayyid, in the presence of General Jameel Al-Shammari and several Shammar Dignitaries. During the meeting, they reminisced about the historical ties and significant moments shared with this distinguished tribe and its various clans. Sayyid Al-Hakeem emphasized the crucial role of tribes in safeguarding the nation and Iraqi society, reminding that Iraq's preservation is attributed to the blessed Religious Authority, Iraqi tribes, and the Husseini rituals.

His Eminence also praised the Iraqi generosity and their warm reception of the millions of pilgrims visiting the shrine of Imam Al-Hussein (peace be upon him), noting that this generosity reflects the community's deep connection to the Husseini cause.
