Sayyid Al-Hakeem Stresses Enabling Professional Unions to Make National Decisions Impacting People’s Lives

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers' Alliance, met with several leaders of professional unions and federations and discussed the vital role unions play in promoting social and economic stability, as well as achieving social justice.

His Eminence pointed out that unions are the cornerstone for defending the rights of workers and professionals across various sectors. They serve as the people's voice in striving for a fair and safe work environment and stand as a fundamental aspect of democratic systems.

H.E. emphasized the significance of constructive dialogue and ongoing cooperation between the government and unions to ensure the fulfillment of common interests.

Additionally, H.E. stressed the necessity of empowering unions and strengthening their role in shaping national decisions that affect the lives of citizens.

H.E. illustrated that society’s stability and prosperity rely on collaborative efforts from all components, especially professionals who represent a key pillar of Iraq's strength.

H.E. reaffirmed our support for unions and our commitment to advancing policies that safeguard everyone’s rights and meet their aspirations for a dignified life, while also stressing the importance of the legal framework governing union work.