Sayyid Al-Hakeem: Iraq Experiences All Levels Stability

At the guesthouse of the late Sheikh Jamil Agha Kori in Salahaddin Resort area, Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with a distinguished group of Kori tribe leaders. They discussed the historical relationship between Arabs and Kurds since the establishment of the Iraqi state, touching on their joint efforts to confront dictatorship and build the Iraqi experience.

H.E. emphasized that Iraq is currently experiencing stability on all fronts, underscoring the importance of everyone working together to preserve and enhance this stability. H.E. expressed particular interest in the recent elections in the region, which received praise from both Iraqis and international observers.

H.E. reaffirmed that the love for the Kurdish people is something ingrained in their upbringing, further strengthened by the challenges and critical moments shared together. H.E. called for unity and cooperation in building Iraq, ensuring the active participation of all its components in the political and social spheres.
