Sayyid Al-Hakeem Stresses Banking Reform Importance to Ensure Government Liquidity

During his tour in the city of the Commander of the Faithful Imam Ali (peace be upon him), Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem met with a group of media professionals and elites in Al-Najaf Al-Ashraf Governorate. H.E. emphasized the need for media outlets to highlight positive aspects and focus on achievements, particularly the successes and progress made in various areas within Al-Najaf. Official reports point to significant developmental and urban achievements in the governorate. H.E. underscored the importance of collaboration between local governments and the media.

H.E. highlighted the critical need for banking system reform to secure liquidity for the government and called for incentives to promote the use of electronic payment systems. Additionally, H.E. stressed the importance of addressing financial challenges by revising the budget schedules for the upcoming year.

H.E. also emphasized preserving the state’s dignity, noting that state institutions and their officials are integral to this. He differentiated between constructive criticism and personal attacks or defamation.

H.E. further advocated for empowering young people, stressing the importance of sending messages of reassurance. He remarked that the success of a young individual in taking on responsibility reflects the broader potential of youth and encourages their greater involvement in leadership roles.
