Sayyid Al-Hakeem Stresses Maintaing Comprehensive Stability in Iraq

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with Iraq's National Security Advisor, Sayyid Qasim Al-Araji, to discuss developments in the security landscape in Iraq and the region. H.E. underscored the importance of maintaining overall stability at political, security, and social levels, urging all parties to take responsibility for transforming this stability into a lasting reality.

Sayyid Al-Hakeem highlighted the need for constructive engagement with the national census and collaboration with census workers, emphasizing its role in providing essential data on Iraq's social, economic, cultural, health, and educational realities. This information, H.E. noted, is vital for the country’s overall development. His Eminence also reiterated the importance of sustaining humanitarian, political, and media support for the crises in Palestine and Lebanon.
