Sayyid Al-Hakeem Receives Prime Minister, Discusses Political, Service Updates

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers' Alliance, Received His Sovereignty Prime Minister Mohammed Shia' Al-Sudani to discuss the latest political developments in Iraq and the region, as well as the Government’s efforts in providing services and enhancing stability.

His Eminence praised the government for launching several service projects in recent days and emphasized the importance of sustaining such initiatives, as they play a key role in rebuilding public trust in the political system and the state's executive institutions.

H.E. underscored the need to safeguard and strengthen stability across political, security, and social dimensions, urging all political and social leaders to fulfill their shared responsibility in this regard.

Concerning the regional situation, H.E. highlighted the importance of enabling the Syrian people to govern their country and draft their constitution, while stressing the need to preserve Syria's demographic diversity, sovereignty, and territorial unity.

In the meeting’s conclusion, Sayyid Al-Hakeem affirmed the importance of maintaining high levels of security and military preparedness and for continuing proactive operations to counter terrorism and eliminate sleeper cells.
