Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Former Republic President Dr. Barham Salih in Sulaymaniyah, Emphasizes Strengthening Iraq's Stability

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with former President Dr. Barham Salih in Sulaymaniyah to discuss political developments in Iraq and the region, as well as key issues concerning relations between the federal government and the Kurdistan Regional Government.

His Eminence noted a shared vision with Dr. Salih regarding the critical importance of preserving stability in Iraq and working towards enduring peace that fosters political and social progress. H.E. highlighted the significant strides Iraq has made in political, security, and social stability, which have enhanced the performance of both the federal and local governments in delivering services to citizens.

H.E. emphasized that efficient service delivery is key to restoring public trust in the executive system, the political framework, and Iraq’s political forces. H.E. also stressed the necessity of leveraging the current period to resolve outstanding crises and overcome challenges facing the country.

Concluding the meeting, H.E. reiterated his call for a comprehensive regional dialogue, emphasizing that such dialogue is the best path to achieving peace and stability across the region.