Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Higher Education and Scientific Research Minister

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with His Excellency Dr. Naeem Al-Aboudi, Minister of Higher Education and Scientific Research. The meeting discussed political developments in Iraq and the region and supported the government in its developmental and service-oriented efforts.

During the meeting, Sayyid Al-Hakeem commended the progress in completing developmental and service projects. His Eminence emphasized the importance of setting priorities in line with Iraq's current political and economic changes. The discussion also highlighted the need to support Iraqi universities and enhance their role in aligning educational outcomes with labor market demands.

Sayyid Al-Hakeem stressed the significance of promoting rare specializations and underscored the pivotal role of universities, research centers, and advisory bodies in providing scientific solutions to the Iraqi state's challenges. H.E. further noted that the best way to achieve these goals is by encouraging master's theses and doctoral dissertations that offer innovative solutions to the country's pressing issues.
