Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Australia’s Chaldean League President, Highlights Christian Community’s Role to Enrich Iraqi Society

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with Dr. Sameer Yosif, President of the Chaldean League in Australia. During the meeting, His Eminence listened to a detailed overview of the Chaldean community’s presence in Australia and its active role in the political and social landscape there.

H.E. emphasized that the Christian community is an integral part of Iraq’s social fabric, noting that its contributions go beyond numbers to a vital role in enriching society through its unique cultural heritage, which adds to Iraq’s rich diversity. H.E. further stressed that the influence of Iraq’s Christian population extends across various fields, underscoring their deep-rooted presence and impact.

H.E. also highlighted the importance of fostering positive coexistence among Iraq’s social components, calling for effective diversity management by strengthening relationships between different segments of the Iraqi people. Additionally, H.E. emphasized the need to build bridges of cooperation between Iraq and communities across the region and the world, reinforcing Iraq’s influence on regional and international platforms.

The meeting concluded with a reaffirmation of the need to continue supporting Iraq’s cultural and social diversity, as a key factor in ensuring stability and development in the country.
