dSayyid Al-Hakeem: Iraq Witness Unprecedented Stability, Reaffirms Support for Syria’s Territorial Integrity

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, received a delegation of Syrian think tank leaders visiting Iraq at the invitation of the Iraqi Group for Foreign Affairs, as part of efforts to foster dialogue and exchange perspectives between the two nations.

His Eminence emphasized that Iraq is currently experiencing an unprecedented level of political, social, security, and even economic stability. H.E. highlighted Iraq’s strong ties with countries across the region and the world, noting the broad cooperation in various fields—particularly economic and security sectors—which contributes to greater regional stability.

H.E. reaffirmed a consistent and principled stance in support of Syria’s territorial unity, stressing that Syria’s stability is a key pillar for the stability of the entire region. H.E. also underscored the need for inclusive political participation of all segments of the Syrian people and the protection of the country's diverse components.

H.E. further noted the critical role research and policy centers play in shaping solutions and strategic insights that support state-building efforts. H.E. added that such institutions are vital in addressing social challenges and reinforcing national identity, particularly in the aftermath of recent events in Syria.
