Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Al-Guraiti Dignitaries, Stresses Active Elections Participation to Enhance Representation, Serve Iraq’s Stability

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of National State Powers’ Alliance, received a delegation of sheikhs and dignitaries from the esteemed Al-Gurait tribe, led by Sheikh Zuheir Al-Guraiti. The meeting featured an exchange of views on national affairs and the upcoming entitlements, foremost among them the upcoming elections.

At the outset, H.E. extended his condolences on the anniversary of the martyrdom of Imam Hussein (peace be upon him), affirming that the tragedy of Karbala stands as an eternal model for upholding the truth – a legacy made immortal through diverse roles unified by a single cause.

H.E. stressed the need to approach current challenges with seriousness and high resolve while placing trust in Allah Almighty. H.E. called for early and responsible preparation for the elections, emphasizing the importance of electing candidates who genuinely represent their communities and are well-acquainted with the needs and concerns of the people.

H.E. also underscored the value of highlighting success stories across various sectors and promoting the highest standards of competence and merit, noting their positive impact on the broader national landscape.

In conclusion, H.E. called for broad, active, and informed participation in the elections, asserting that higher voter turnout reflects public awareness and directly contributes to Iraq’s political and social stability.
