Sayyid Al-Hakeem Meets Babil Tribal Sheiks, Dignitaries, Calls to Uphold Moderation, Informed Elections Participation

Sayyid Ammar Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers Alliance, met with several tribal sheiks, dignitaries, and residents of Babil Governorate. During the meeting, His Eminence renewed condolences on the anniversaries of the martyrdom of Imam Al-Hussein and Imam Zain Al-Abidin (peace be upon them), highlighting the role Imam Al-Sajjad (peace be upon him) played in reviving moral and ethical values within the Ummah and lifting the spirits of believers through spiritual and humanitarian means such as supplication and tears in commemorating Ashura and the injustice faced by Ahl Al-Bayt (peace be upon them).

H.E. called for efforts to dispel frustration and promote positivity in society by highlighting national achievements, stressing that building trust requires sharing success stories and inspiring collective awareness towards positive change.

H.E. further emphasized the importance of broad and conscious participation in the upcoming elections, urging voters to choose the most capable within a virtuous list and affirming that competition must be based on realistic programs and services rather than slogans or smear campaigns.

H.E. reaffirmed his adherence to the path of moderation and centrism, describing it as the soundest approach to building a strong state capable of achieving political, social, and economic stability. H.E. noted that strengthening and culturally and socially promoting this approach is a collective responsibility shared by national elites and active figures in the public sphere.

H.E. also called for pride in this path and for raising public awareness of its merits, describing it as the optimal way to achieve broad popular satisfaction and comprehensive, sustainable national development.
