

Sayyid Al-Hakeem Affirms Iraqi Tribes Importance, Stresses Supporting Farmers to Confront Economic Challenges

His Eminence Sayyid Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers' Alliance, received Sheikh Hisham Al Dana Al-Jubouri, and recalled with him the historical relationship that has joined Al-Hakeem family with Iraqi tribes, including the noble Jubour tribe, while affirming the importance of Iraqi tribes as an essential pillar in preserving society and the missionary project in Iraq.

Sayyid Al-Hakeem pointed to the challenges surrounding Iraq, noting that Iraq is experiencing a difficult economic challenge due to regional events and their repercussions on oil production and export, calling for understanding these events and their repercussions, and stressing support for farmers and considering their dues a priority equal to the priority of employees' salaries.
