Sayyid Al-Hakeem: Karbala’s Battle; Organization, Obedience, Principles Steadfastness School

As part of the tour in the holy governorate of Karbala, His Eminence Sayyid Al-Hakeem, Head of the National State Powers’ Alliance and Head of Al-Hikma National Movement, met a large gathering of organizational leaders in the governorate, congratulating the people of holy Karbala on being neighbors of the Master of Martyrs (PBUH), and explaining that the blessing of neighboring Hussein places a doubled responsibility on the sons of holy Karbala, and stressing the importance of the sons of Karbala being an extension of Imam Hussein (PBUH).

H.E. called for drawing lessons from the Battle of Karbala, including organization, commitment, and obedience to the directives of Imam Hussein (PBUH) without objection after a decision is taken, which is why Imam Hussein (PBUH) said: “I know of no companions better than my companions,” stressing discipline to achieve influence.

H.E. explained that among the lessons of Karbala are being frank with companions about reality, and holding fast to the truth without regard for opinions that fall short of the truth and deviate from it, citing the step of empowering youth in the Iraqi equation, which was rejected by some, yet today is adopted by everyone, calling for adopting the truth, stressing awareness, insight, and steadfastness, and calling for getting to know the project and making it known, with the importance of openly declaring the movement’s identity.
